TCS Healthcare Technologies Names Luis Luna Director of Finance
Luna Joins the Executive Team to support Business Processes and Strategic Planning

Auburn, CA / PRWeb / September 29, 2015 – TCS Healthcare Technologies (TCS), a leading provider of software and clinical solutions for the care management and population health arenas, has appointed Luis Luna as the Director of Finance. This promotion solidifies TCS’s dedication to creating a comprehensive executive team that can successfully manage all aspects of business and foundational leadership for continuing growth into the future.

Luna has been with TCS since 2014—originally as a Program Manager, then Manager of Finance. In addition to handling the oversight of day-to-day finance activities, Luna’s new role as Director of Finance makes him an integral part of the financial planning and management process at TCS; he will now work directly with the executive team.

Regarding his new role, Luna explains, “When I look at the landscape of care management and the role of technology and TCS’s solutions, I am confident that TCS has tremendous opportunity for significant growth in the coming years. TCS continues its important mission to provide tools for health plans and self-insured organizations to improve health care and improve efficiencies.”

According to Rob Pock, CEO and Founder of TCS, “Luis is an incredible asset to TCS and brings to the table significant business discipline. He has proven an extraordinary team player, but one who is clearly a leader and knows how to motivate and inspire the team to the highest level.”

Prior to joining TCS, Luna was a Senior Consultant with Red Hill Consulting Group, specializing in helping small businesses across several industries to develop strong business plans, financial discipline and sales and marketing activities. He received his MBA from the Foster School of Business and is an adjunct instructor at William Jessup University.

Luna joins Matt Fahner, Director of Product Management, Deborah Keller, Director of Client Services and Jeff Frater, Director of Partner Development to complete TCS's comprehensive executive team.
